

Fallen Fields

Look at this British Council weblink about the Battle of the Somme. Look at the recruitment posters on pages 21 - 25

LO: To study an aspect or theme in British history that extends pupils' knowledge and understanding.

How do you think young men feel when they look at these posters? What is the authors intention? How are you supposed to feel when you look at them?

Why do you think pictures of women are used?

You can write on paper or on a Word document. If you want to email your work please send it to Mrs Hargood via this email office@ifield.kent.sch.uk

We will be looking at these recruitment posters in school together and developing our ideas further this week.
